SUGGESTED ANSWERS/HINTS

1. An agent has the authority in an emergency to do all such acts as a man of ordinary prudence would, for protecting his principal from losses under similar circumstances.

In the instant case, Mridul, the agent, was handling perishable goods like 'tomatoes' and can decide the time, date and place of sale, not necessarily as per instructions of Akshat, the principal, with the intention of protecting Akshat from losses.

Here, Mridul acts in an emergency as a man of ordinary prudence, so Akshat will not succeed against him for recovering the loss.

2. (i) According to Section 134 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, the surety is discharged by any contract between the creditor and the principal debtor, by which the principal debtor is released or by any act or omission of the creditor, the legal consequence of which is the discharge of the principal debtor. In the given case, B does not supply the necessary material as per the agreement. Hence, C is discharged from his liability.
- (ii) According to Section 136 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, where a contract to give time to the principal debtor is made by the creditor with a third person and not with the principal debtor, the surety is not discharged. In the given question the contract to give time to the principal debtor is made by the creditor with X who is a third person. X is not the principal debtor. Hence, A is not discharged.
3. According to section 9 of the Negotiable Instrument Act, 1881, "Holder in due course" means-
- any person
 - who for consideration
 - becomes the possessor of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque (if payable to bearer), or the payee or endorsee thereof, (if payable to order),
 - before the amount mentioned in it became payable, and
 - without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title.
- In the instant case, Mr. Varun draws a cheque of ₹ 11,000 and gives to Mr. Abhi by way of gift.
- (1) Mr. Abhi is holder but not a holder in due course since he did not get the cheque for value and consideration.
- (2) Mr. Abhi's title is good and bonafide. As a holder he is entitled to receive ₹ 11,000 from the bank on whom the cheque is drawn.
4. As per section 31A of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, there may be an agreement or settlement by the employees with their employer for payment of an annual bonus linked with production or productivity in lieu of bonus based on profits, payable under the Act. When such an agreement has been entered into, the employees are entitled to receive bonus as per terms of the agreement/ settlement, subject to the following restrictions imposed by section 31A.
- (a) Any such agreement/settlement whereby the employees relinquish their right to receive minimum bonus under section 10, shall be null and void in so far as it purports to deprive the employees of the right of receiving minimum bonus.
- (b) If the bonus payable under such agreement exceeds 20% of the salary/ wages earned by the employees during the relevant accounting year, such employees are not entitled to the excess over 20% of salary/wages.

In the given case Stellar Industries Ltd. agreed with the employees for payment of annual bonus linked with production or productivity instead of profits subject to the limit of 30% of their salary/wages during the relevant accounting year. According to Section 31A, the maximum bonus under this provision that can be given cannot exceed 20% of the salary/wages earned by the employee during the relevant accounting year. Hence, the maximum bonus may be paid up to 20% of the salary/ wages. If the company enters into agreement to pay more than 20%, then it will be against the provisions of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, therefore cannot be enforced.

The employees of Stellar Industries Ltd. also agreed not to claim minimum bonus as stated in Section 10 of the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, shall also be null and void as it purports to deprive the employees of their right of receiving minimum bonus. Hence, relief may be given by the court, by enforcing the payment of bonus to the employees, based on the production or productivity, as agreed, plus minimum bonus payable under the Payment of Bonus Act, 1965, subject to maximum of 20%.

5. Transfer of accumulated amount to the credit of Employees' Provident Funds on change of employment

Section 17 A (1) provides that where an employee employed in an establishment to which this Act applies leaves his employment and obtains re-employment in another establishment to which this Act does not apply, the amount of accumulations to the credit of such employee in the provident fund of the establishment left by him shall be transferred, within such time as may be specified by the Central Government in this behalf, to the credit of his account in the provident fund of the establishment in which he is re-employed, if the employee so desires and the rules in relation to that provident fund permit such transfer.

Similarly, under sub section (2) where an employee employed in an establishment to which this Act does not apply leaves his employment and obtains re-employment in another establishment to which this Act applies, the amount of accumulations to the credit of such employee in the provident fund of the establishment left by him may, if the employee so desires and the rules in relation to such provident fund permit, be transferred to the credit of his account in the Fund or as the case may be, in the provident fund of the establishment in which he is re-employed.

6. Computation of Gratuity of a disabled employee: According to Section 4 (4) of the Payment of Gratuity Act, 1972, when an employee becomes disabled due to any accident or disease and is not in a position to do the same work and re-employed on reduced wages on some other job, the gratuity will be calculated in two parts :-

- For the period preceding the disablement: on the basis of wages last drawn by the employee at the time of his disablement.
- For the period subsequent to the disablement: On the basis of the reduced wages as drawn by him at the time of the termination of services.

In the case of Bharat Commerce and Industries Vs. Ram Prasad, it was decided that if for the purposes of computation of quantum of the amount of gratuity the terms of agreement or settlement are better than the Act, the employee is entitled for that benefit.

As per section 4(3), the maximum amount of gratuity payable to an employee shall not exceed such amount as may be notified by the Central Government from time to time.

The Central Government has specified that the amount of gratuity payable to an employee shall not exceed 20 Lakh rupees. [Notification S.O. 1420 (E) dated 29th March, 2018]

7. Issue of Further Shares: Section 62 (1) (a) of the Companies Act, 2013 provides that if, at any time, a company having a share capital proposes to increase its subscribed capital by the issue of further shares, such shares should be offered to the existing equity shareholders of the company as at the date of the offer, in proportion to the capital paid up on those shares.

However, certain exceptions have been provided in the Companies Act, 2013 when such further shares of a company may be offered to other persons as well. These are as under-

- (a) Under section 62 (1) (b) issue of further shares may be offered to employees under a scheme of employees' stock option subject to a special resolution passed by the company and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.
- (b) Under section 62 (1) (c) such shares may be offered to any persons, if it is authorised by a special resolution, either for cash or for a consideration other than cash, if the price of such shares is determined by the valuation report of a registered valuer, subject to the compliance with the applicable provisions of Chapter III and any other conditions as may be prescribed.
- (c) if any equity shareholder to whom the shares are offered in terms of section 62 (1) (a) as described above, declines such offer, the Board of Directors may dispose of the shares in such manner as is not disadvantageous to the shareholders or to the company.

Preference Shareholders - whether (Further Issue of Capital) can be offered to: From the wordings of Section 62 (1) (c), it is quite clear that these shares can be issued to any persons who may be preference shareholders as well provided such issue is authorized by a special resolution of the company and are issued on such conditions as may be prescribed.

8. (i) According to section 100 (2) of the Companies Act 2013, the Board of directors must convene a general meeting upon requisition by the stipulated minimum number of members.

As per Section 103 (2) (b) of the Companies Act, 2013, if the quorum is not present within half an hour from the appointed time for holding a meeting of the company, the meeting, if called on the requisition of members, shall stand cancelled. Therefore, the meeting stands cancelled and the stand taken by the Board of Directors to adjourn it, is not proper.

- (ii) Under section 67 (2) of the Companies Act, 2013 no public company is allowed to give, directly or indirectly and whether by means of a loan, guarantee, or security, any financial assistance for the purpose of, or in connection with, a purchase or subscription, by any person of any shares in it or in its holding company.

However, section 67 (3) makes an exception by allowing companies to give loans to their employees other than its directors or key managerial personnel, for an amount not exceeding their salary or wages for a period of six months with a view to enabling them to purchase or subscribe for fully paid-up shares in the company or its holding company to be held by them by way of beneficial ownership.

It is further provided that disclosures in respect of voting rights not exercised directly by the employees in respect of shares to which the scheme relates shall be made in the Board's report in such manner as may be prescribed.

Hence, Heavy Metals Ltd can provide financial assistance upto the specified limit to its employees to enable them to subscribe for the shares in the company provided the shares are purchased by the employees to be held for beneficial ownership by them.

However, the directors or key managerial personnel will not be eligible for such assistance.

9. (i) Maintenance of the Register of Members etc.: As per section 94(1) of the Companies Act, 2013, the registers required to be kept and maintained by a company under section 88 and copies of the annual return filed under section 92 shall be kept at the registered office of the company:

Provided that such registers or copies of return may also be kept at any other place in India in which more than one-tenth of the total number of members entered in the register of members reside, if approved by a special resolution passed at a general meeting of the company and the Registrar has been given a copy of the proposed special resolution in advance.

So, Tulip Ltd. can also keep the registers and returns at Kolkata after compliance with the above provisions, provided more than one-tenth of the total number of members entered in the register of members reside in Kolkata.

- (ii) As per section 94(2) of the Companies Act, the registers and their indices, except when they are closed under the provisions of this Act, and the copies of all the returns shall be open for inspection by any member, debenture-holder, other security holder or beneficial owner, during business hours without payment of any fees and by any other person on payment of such fees as may be prescribed.

Accordingly, a director Mr. Rich, who is a shareholder of the company, has a right to inspect the Register of Members during business hours without payment of any fees, as per the provisions of this section.

10. Section 68(2) of the Companies Act, 2013 deals with the Conditions required for buy-back of shares.

As per the Act, the company shall not purchase its own shares or other specified securities unless-

- (a) The buy-back is authorized by its articles;
- (b) A special resolution has been passed at a general meeting of the company authorizing the buy-back: except where—
 - (1) the buy-back is, ten per cent or less of the total paid-up equity capital and free reserves of the company; and
 - (2) such buy-back has been authorised by the Board by means of a resolution passed at its meeting;

Time limit for Completion of Buy Back: As per section 68(4), every buy-back shall be completed within a period of one year from the date of passing of the special resolution, or as the case may be, the resolution passed by the Board under sub-section (2).

Ratio of aggregate debts: Provision also specifies that ratio of the aggregate debts (secured and unsecured) owed by the company after buy back is not more than twice the paid up capital and its free reserves. However, Central Government may prescribe higher ratio of the debt for a class or classes of companies.

As per the stated facts, Large Ltd. has a paid up equity capital and free reserves to the extent of ₹ 50,00,000. The company planned to buy back shares to the extent of ₹ 4,50,000.

Referring to the above provisions, the answers will be as follows:

- 1. No, special resolution will not be required as the buyback is less than 10% of the total paid-up equity capital and free reserves ($50,00,000 \times 10/100 = 5,00,000$) of the company, but such buy back must be authorized by the Board by means of a resolution passed at its meeting.
- 2. Time limit for completion of buy back will be- within a period of one year from the date of passing of the resolution by the Board.
- 3. The ratio of the aggregate debts (secured and unsecured) owed by the company after buy back should not be more than twice the paid up capital and its free reserves.

The above buy-back is possible when backed by the authorization by the articles of the company.

11. "Ethics programs are not helping to manage values associated with quality management, strategic planning and diversity management".

No. This is an incorrect statement.

Reason: Ethics programs help identifying the preferred values and ensuring that organizational behaviours are aligned with those values. This includes recording the values, developing policies and procedures to align behaviours with preferred values and then providing training to all personnel about the policies and procedures. This overall effort is very useful for several other programs in the workplace that require behaviours to be aligned with values, including quality management, strategic planning and diversity management.

For example, total quality management initiatives include high priority on certain operating values, e.g. trust among stakeholders, performance, reliability, measurement and feedback.

12. The root meaning of the term discriminate is “to distinguish one object from another”. Employment discrimination is treating one person better than another because of their age, gender, race, religion or other protected class of status. Discrimination in employment is wrong because it violates the basic principle of equality. Discrimination is to treat people differently. It is usually intended to refer to the wrongful act of making a difference in treatment or favour on a basis other than individual merit.

Elements of Discrimination: The elements which create discrimination may be summarized as follows:

- (i) If the decision against one or more employees is taken which is not based on individual merit, such as the ability to perform a given job, seniority or other morally legitimate qualification.
- (ii) If the decision has been derived solely from racial or sexual prejudice, false stereotypes or other kind of morally unjustified attitude against members of which the employee belongs.
- (iii) If the decision has a harmful or negative impact on the interests of the employees, perhaps costing them jobs, promotions or better pay.

Discrimination in employment is wrong because it violates the basic principle of justice by differentiating between people on the basis of characteristics (race or sex) that are not relevant to the tasks they must perform. Looking to these aspects law has also been changed to conform to these moral requirements and to minimize the discrimination in employment in this respect.

13. (i) Intimidation threat for finance and accounting professionals working as auditors:
- (a) Being threatened with dismissal or replacement;
 - (b) Being threatened with litigation;
 - (c) Being pressured to reduce inappropriately the extent of work performed in order to reduce fees;

(ii) Intimidation threat for finance and accounting professionals working as employees:

- (a) Threat of dismissal or replacement of the finance and accounting professional or a close or immediate family member over a disagreement about the application of an accounting principle or the way in which financial information is to be reported for external use as well as for decision making purposes.
- (b) A dominant personality attempting to influence the decision making process, for example with regard to the exclusion of irrelevant costs from projected cost estimates..

14. Ecological ethics is based on the idea that the environment should be protected not only for the sake of human beings but also for its own sake. The issue of environmental ethics goes beyond the problems relating to protection of environment or nature in terms of pollution, resource utilization or waste disposal.

Business and Industry are closely linked with environment and resource utilization. Production process and strategy for eco-friendly technologies throughout the product life cycle and minimization of waste play major role in protection the environment and conservation of resources. Business, Industry and multinational corporations have to recognize environmental management as the priority area and a key determinant to sustainable development. Sound management of wastes is among the major environmental issues for maintaining the quality of Earth's environment and achieving sustainable development.

If the environmental costs are properly reflected in the prices paid for goods and services then companies and ultimately the consumer would adjust market behaviour in a way that would reduce damage to environment, pollution and waste production. Price signal will also influence behaviour to avoid exploitation or excessive utilization of natural resources. Such measures would facilitate the approach of "Polluter Pays Principle". Removing subsidies that encourage environmental damage is another measure.

15. (i) Accountability Throughout the Value Chain: Over the past several years, the CSR agenda has been characterized by the expansion of boundaries of corporate accountability. Stakeholders increasingly hold companies accountable for the practices of their business partners throughout the entire value chain with special focus on suppliers, environmental, labour, and human rights practices.
- (ii) Advances in Information Technology: The rapid growth of information technology has also served to sharpen the focus on the link between business and corporate social responsibility. Just as email, mobile phones and the Internet speed the pace of change and facilitate the growth of business, they also speed the flow of information about a company's CSR record.
16. Elements influencing organisational Culture: There are number of elements that can be used to describe or influence Organizational Culture. Some of these are:

- ◆ The Paradigm: What the organization is about; what it does; its mission; its values.
- ◆ Control Systems: The processes in place to monitor what is going on.
- ◆ Organizational Structures: Reporting lines, hierarchies, and the way that work flows through the business.
- ◆ Power Structures: Who makes the decisions and how power is distributed across the organization.
- ◆ Symbols: These include the logos and designs, but would extend to symbols of power, such as car parking spaces and executive washrooms!
- ◆ Rituals and Routines: Management meetings, board reports and so on may become more habitual than necessary.
- ◆ Stories and Myths: build up about people and events, and convey a message about what is valued within the organization.

Communicating the corporate culture effectively is paramount. For example, at General Electric (GE), corporate values are so important to the company, that Jack Welch, the former legendary CEO of the company, had them inscribed and distributed to all GE employees at every level of the company.

17. The skills needed for effective critical thinking are:

1. Analyze Cause and Effect: You must be able to separate the motive or reason for an action or event (the cause) from the result or outcome (the effect).
2. Classify and Sequence: You must be able to group items or sort them according to similar characteristics.
3. Compare and Contrast: You must be able to determine how things are similar and how they are different.
4. Infer: You must be skilled in reasoning and extending logic to come up with plausible options or outcomes.
5. Evaluate: You must be able to determine sound criteria for making choices and decisions.
6. Observe: You must be skilled in attending to the details of what actually happened.
7. Predict: You must be able to finding and analyze trends, and extend these to make sensible predictions about the future.
8. Rationalize: You must be able to apply the laws of reason (induction, deduction, analogy) in to judge an argument and determine its merits.
9. Prioritize: You must be able to determine the importance of an event or situation and put it in the correct perspective.
10. Summarize: You must be able to distill a brief report of what happened or what you have learned.

11. Synthesize: You must be able to identify new possible outcome by using pieces of information that you already know.

18. Negotiation: Negotiation is a common way of settling issues between two or more disagreeing parties. When handled skillfully, negotiation can improve the position of one or even both but when poorly handled; it can leave a problem still unsolved and perhaps worse than before.

Approaches: Negotiation can be approached in four ways. Each of these approaches produces a different outcome.

Win-Lose Orientation: This is the approach taken by competitive communicators. The win-lose orientation is based on the assumption that only one side can reach its goals and that any victory by that party will be matched by the other's loss. Despite the fact that it produces losers as well as winners, a win-lose orientation can sometimes be the best approach to negotiating. For example, in a one-time commercial transaction (the sale of a car, for instance), concern for helping the other party may take a back seat in getting the best possible deal, without violation of ethical values.

Lose-Lose Orientation: With a lose-lose orientation, a conflict plays out in a way that damages both parties to such a degree that everyone feels like a loser. Nobody starts out seeking a lose-lose outcome, of course, but sometimes when people feel that a negotiating partner is blocking them, they wind up seeking revenge. For example, if customers feel cheated, they are likely to tell others about their dissatisfaction, costing the company future business.

Compromise: Sometimes it seems better to compromise than to fight battles in a competitive manner and risk a lose-lose outcome. There are cases in which compromise is the best obtainable outcome-usually when disputed resources are limited or scarce. For example, if two managers, both of whom need a separate full-time secretary but budget restrictions make this impossible, they may have to compromise by sharing one secretary.

Win-Win Orientation: A win-win approach differs significantly from the preceding negotiating styles. It is a collaborative approach to negotiation and assumes that solutions can be reached that satisfy the needs of all the parties. Most importantly, it looks beyond the conflicting means of both parties (my way versus your way) and focuses on satisfying the ends each is seeking. The key is to avoid taking polar positions (arguing over means) and instead to identify the ends or goals of both parties.

19. (i) The given statement "Rumour and gossip are synonymous" is incorrect.

Rumours and gossip seem to be an inevitable part of everyday corporate life. Even though rumours and gossip often travel through the same network, there is a distinction between the terms. Rumours tend to focus on events and information, whereas gossip focuses on people. Even though managers usually treat the information as “yet to be confirmed”, it may cloud judgments about the employee. The information has a way of creeping into performance evaluations and promotion decisions, even if unintended.

- (ii) The given statement “Lying breaks down the trust between individuals” is correct.

A lie is a false statement intended to deceive. Of all the ethical dilemmas, lying would appear to be the least morally perplexing. Most would agree that “one ought not to lie”. Yet lies in business are more common than many would care to admit. Lying breaks down the trust between individuals, shaking the foundation of ethical communication.
